PRE-READING QUESTIONS

Character
What does it mean to have character? What are the most important character traits a person must possess to lead a full life? What are your most positive character traits, and how are they realized on a daily basis? Can character be acquired or changed?

Strength
What is the difference between physical strength and inner strength? Think about a time in your life when you had to use physical strength to accomplish a task. Now think of a time when you had to summon inner strength to overcome something personally difficult. How were the experiences alike, and how were they different?

Observation
What does it mean to have powers of observation? How is seeing different from observing? What qualities must one possess to be observant, and can these qualities be practiced or are people born with them? What might you do to hone your powers of observation?

Chaos
Chaos is defined as complete disorder and confusion. How do external events in the world, such as war, natural disasters, and accidents, cause chaos in people’s lives? Now think of internal chaos that can occur inside a person. What factors might lead to one being in a state of internal chaos, and what are some ways one might resolve it?

LIFE

• On page 89, Amon explains to Lily that feasting “...is a time for celebration, renewal.” When Lily asks what Amon is celebrating, he replies, “Life.” How is feasting a symbol of life? Why do you think that Lily does not initially view Amon’s “hunger” as a metaphor for living? The feasting metaphor continues on pages 110 and 111. Lily describes her feast as exhilarating, decadent, adventurous, and intimate. How does feasting with Amon begin to inform Lily’s growing willingness to experience the simple pleasures in life?

• On page 119 Amon encourages a reluctant Lily to dance. He says, “You must allow yourself to feel...joy, Young Lily. You must take pleasure...in just being alive.” How is dancing a metaphor for joy and ultimately for life?

• Lily realizes that the adventure she is having with Amon is ones that she must fully experience and “enjoy every minute while it lasted” (p. 111). Why is it important to live in the moment?

• Reread page 149 in which Lily believes she is about to die and thinks: “The irony was that I waited for death, I realized that I was now finally living. Think about the sweaty, uncomfortable, harsh, heartbroken, scary, and thrilling moments of your life. How are the often difficult moments, and getting through them, an affirmation of life?”

• Lily’s realization that, “...it was better to live, explore and face possible danger that to cower for the rest of my life inside a pretty box” (p. 151). What is Lily’s “pretty box?” Do you agree or disagree with Lily’s sentiment?

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS (continued)

• What does Amon mean when he says to Asten, “She is neither mine nor yours. Nor is she attached to anyone else. She belongs to herself” (p. 143)? How does this attitude differ from Amon’s earlier perspective of Lily?

• Why is being willing to have a “voice” essential to self-determination? Why does it make Lily feel proud (p. 271)? How do you use your voice to gain agency in your life?

Common Core Standards Addressed in This Guide

Grade 8
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.8.2
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.8.3
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.8.5

Grade 9
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.9–10.3
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.9–10.5

DISCUSSION GUIDE

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR OF THE TIGER’S CURSE SERIES

REAWAKENED

ART © 2015 by Chris Saunders

This guide was created by Colleen Houck, children’s book author, curriculum writer and developer, and a dedicated consultant.

Children’s Books Online, New York
“You must never underestimate a willing sacrifice.”

PRE-READING QUESTIONS

Character
What does it mean to have character? What are the most important character traits a person must possess to lead a full life? What are your most positive character traits, and how are they realized on a daily basis? Can character be acquired or changed?

Strength
What is the difference between physical strength and inner strength? Think about a time in your life when you had to use physical strength to accomplish a task. Now think of a time when you had to summon inner strength to overcome something personally difficult. How were the experiences alike, and how were they different?

Observation
What does it mean to have powers of observation? How is seeing different from observing? What qualities must one possess to be observant, and can these qualities be practiced or are people born with them? What might you do to hone your powers of observation?

Chaos
Chaos is defined as complete disorder and confusion. How do external events in the world, such as war, natural disasters, and accidents, cause chaos in people’s lives? Now think of internal chaos that can occur inside a person. What factors might lead to one being in a state of internal chaos, and what are some ways one might resolve it?

LIFE

• On page 40, Amon explains to Lily that feasting “… is a time for celebration, renewal.” When Lily asks what Amon is celebrating, he replies, “Life.” New is feasting a symbol of life? Why do you think that Lily does not initially see Amon’s “hunger” as a metaphor for living? The feasting metaphor continues on pages 110 and 111. Lily describes their feast as exhilarating, decadent, adventurous, and intimate. How does feasting with Amon begin to inform Lily’s growing willingness to experience the simple pleasures of life?

• On page 119 Amon encourages a reluctant Lily to dance. He says, “You must allow yourself to feel … joy, Young Lily. You must take pleasure … in just being alive.” How is dancing a metaphor for joy and ultimately for life?

• Lily realizes that the adventure she is having with Amon is one that she must fully experience and “enjoy every minute while it lasts” (p. 121). Why is it important to live in the moment? Reread page 64 in which Lily believes she is about to die and thinks: The irony was that I waited for death. I realized that I was now finally living. Think about the “sweaty, uncomfortable, harsh, heartbroken, scary, and thrilling” moments of your life. How are the often difficult moments, and getting through them, an affirmation of life?

• Discuss Lily’s realization that, “… it was better to live, explore and face possible danger that to cower for the rest of my life inside a pretty box” (p. 151). What is Lily’s “pretty box?” Do you agree or disagree with Lily’s sentiment?

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS (continued)

• What does Amon mean when he says to Asten, “She is neither mine nor yours. Nor is she attached to anyone else. She belongs to herself” (p. 133)? How does this attitude differ from Amon’s earlier perspective of Lily?

• Why is being willing to have a “voice” essential to self-determination? Why does it make Lily feel proud (p. 217)? How do you use your voice to gain agency in your life?

DISCUSSION GUIDE

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR OF THE TIGER’S CURSE SERIES

Includes Common Core Standards Correlations

Grade 8
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.8.2
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.8.3
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.8.5

Grade 9
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.9–10.3
CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.9–10.5

Includes Common Core Standards Correlations

This guide was created by Colleen Houck, children’s book author, curriculum writer and developer, and a dedicated consultant. Colleen lives in Sleepy Hollow, New York.

Copyright © 2015 by Chris Saunders

Art by Chris Saunders

For Teachers and Librarians: www.HiTeachersLibrarians.com

Art © 2015 by Chris Saunders
about the book
When seventeen-year-old Lilliana Young enters the Metropolitan Museum of Art one morning during spring break, the last thing she expects to find is a live Egyptian prince with godlike powers who has been reawakened after a thousand years of mumification. And she really can’t imagine being chosen to aid him in an epic quest that will lead them across the globe. But fate has taken hold of Lily, and she, along with her sun prince, Amon, must travel to the Valley of the Kings, raise his brothers, and stop an evil, shape-shifting god named Seth from taking over the world.

This epic adventure is about two star-crossed teens who must battle mythical forces and ancient curses on a journey with more twists and turns than the Amazon: “Regret mixed with a deep-seated yearning was paired with frustration.” How did he evoked, I’d never felt more alive.”

Discussion Questions

Sacrifice

• Throughout the story, characters are called upon to make a variety of sacrifices, starting with Amon, who must sacrifice his life to save the people of Egypt. What does his willingness to do so tell you about his character?

• After American Lily the story of gods andNut, she says, “Sacrifice must be made so that others may find happiness” (p. 280). Do you agree with him? How has his sacrifice affected his happiness?

• Lily argues with Dr. Hassan (pp. 252–253) saying, “I doubt he’s happy being stuck in the sort of limbo afterlife he described, even should he succeed in his quest. And most of all, I doubt that he’ll, this sacrifice has that to be made ever and ever again, as much as he believes Amon deserves more.” How are sacrifice and happiness connected?

• On page 342, Lily must decide if she is willing to make the ultimate sacrifice in order to help Amon succeed in his quest to overcome Seth. She concludes, “I’d sacrifice anything to help him.” How does her decision mirror the one Amon makes in the beginning of the story? Lily realizes that she must be willing to “sacrifice [herself] for something outside of [her] own wants and desires” so she is to be worthy of love. Do you agree with this notion?

Emotions

• Throughout the story, Lily describes herself as free falling and trapped. Discuss why Lily feels lonely. How does her sense of lackluster change over the course of the story? Lily also refers to her life as an “emotional desert” (p. 41). Why is this an appropriate metaphor? Lily discovers that the bitter taste of Amon’s emotions represents loneliness (p. 313). How can loneliness be bitter? What tastes can you apply to other human emotions, such as sorrow, joy, and anger?

• Throughout the story, Lily is forced to confront a spectrum of emotions that she has kept at bay all her life. Indignation, rage, fear, and confusion are some of the emotions, that she must grapple with at the beginning of her relationship with Amon. How does Lily grow emotionally over the course of the story, and why is it important for her to experience a broad range of feelings, both positive and negative?

• Discuss Lily’s self-observation on page 69: “Even if I was uncomfortable with the emotions it evoked, I’d never felt more alive.” How are emotions connected?

• Lily often experiences a duality of emotions. For example, on page 115, she says, “Amon had a falcon-like stare that made me feel vulnerable and powerful at the same time.” In what other ways do Lily’s emotions shift? On page 196, Lily senses confusing emotions in Amon: “Regret mixed with a deep-seated yearning was paired with frustration.” How does her conflict mirror Amon’s internal struggle between fulfilling his promise and allowing himself to express his feelings for Lily?

Love

• On page 59, Amon explains the ancient Egyptian concept of ka to Lily, to which she replies, “Are you trying to say we can’t make love?” What is a soulmate? Do you believe in the concept that there is one person on the planet who is spiritually connected to another? How does the initial physical connection between Lily and Amon eventually change into a heart/soul connection?

• After feasting together, Amon declares to Lily that “his heart is lightened” (p. 171) by being with her. How is this “lightening” of Amon’s heart connected to love? How does Amon’s act of giving Lily his Amset (heart) represent more than a physical gift of remembrance? Amon makes in the beginning of the story? Lily suddenly realizes what her heart wishes for: “The idea burst into my mind like a sunrise.” How can the realization of wanting others may find happiness to be made over and over again, is worth it. All, I doubt that this life, this sacrifice that has been reawakened after a thousand years, do you agree with him? How has his sacrifice affected his happiness?

• Discuss how Lily’s changing physical appearance reflects her personal growth and emotional and spiritual evolution (p. 517)?

• What is agency? Why does Lily refer to the choice Amon is giving her to come with him or stay in New York City as “a precious taste of freedom” (p. 58)?

• Why is it important for Lily to be different from her peers and fight to reshape the course of her life? How is taking control of your own life an act of “free agency” (p. 80)?

• Reread the spell that Amon performs on page 21. How is it an act of power and control? Do you think it is fair for Amon to help himself to Lily’s energy without her consent? What is agency? How can giving up some self-control feel uncomfortable? Describe what Lily means by not “knowing” herself anymore.

Self-Determination and Choices

• How does Lily’s changing physical appearance reflect her personal growth and emotional and spiritual evolution (p. 517)?

• What is agency? Why does Lily refer to the choice Amon is giving her to come with him or stay in New York City as “a precious taste of freedom” (p. 58)?

• Why is it important for Lily to be different from her peers and fight to reshape the course of her life? How is taking control of your own life an act of “free agency” (p. 80)?

• Discuss the “new version” of Lily described on pages 162 to 165. How is the new version unlike the Lily from the start of the story? Why does it require bravery to determine your future?
When seventeen-year-old Lilliana Young enters the Metropolitan Museum of Art one morning during spring break, the last thing she expects to find is a live Egyptian prince with godlike powers who has been reawakened after a thousand years of mumification. And she really can’t imagine being chosen to aid him in an epic quest that will lead them across the globe. But fate has taken hold of Lily, and she, along with her sun prince, Amon, must travel to the Valley of the Kings, raise his brothers, and stop an evil, shape-shifting god named Seth from taking over the world. This epic adventure is about two star-crossed teens who must battle mythical forces and ancient curses on a journey with more twists and turns than the Nile itself.

About the Book

Colleen Houck is the New York Times bestselling author of the Tiger’s Curse series. She has won a Parents’ Choice Award and has been reviewed in many publications, including the Los Angeles Times. Her favorite elements of writing are romance, action, and dialogue. Says Houck, “Smart and witty verbal jousting is exciting to invent.” She has loved all over the United States and currently lives in Salem, Oregon, with her husband and a huge assortment of plush tigers. To learn more about Colleen, visit colleenhouck.com.

Discussion Questions

Sacrifice

- Throughout the story, characters are called upon to make a variety of sacrifices, starting with Amon, who must sacrifice his life to save the people of Egypt. What does his willingness to do so tell you about his character?
- After Ameron’s Lily the story of Gods and Nef, the Prince, says, “Sacrifices must be made so that others may find happiness” (p. 250). Do you agree with him? How has his sacrifice affected his happiness?
- Lily argues with Dr. Hassan (pp. 252–253) saying, “I don’t feel happy being stuck in the sort of limbo afterlife he described, even should he succeed in his quest. And most of all, I doubt that theo, this sacrifice, has that to be had over and over, as much in Amon deserves more.” How are sacrifice and happiness connected?
- On page 542, Lily must decide if she is willing to sacrifice the differences between her and Amon’s world to continue to be together. How does her decision reflect her personal growth and emotional development?

Emotions

- Throughout the story, Lily describes herself as free but lonely and trapped. Discuss why Lily feels lonely. How does her sense of loneliness change over the course of the story? Lily also refers to her life as an “emotional desert” (p. 41). Why is this an appropriate metaphor? Lily discovers that the bitter taste of Amon’s emotions represents loneliness (p. 51). How can loneliness be bitter? What tastes can you apply to other human emotions, such as sorrow, joy, and anger?
- Throughout the story, Lily is forced to confront a spectrum of emotions that she has kept at bay all her life. Indignation, rage, fear, and confusion are some of the emotions that she must reconcile with the beginnings of a relationship with Amon. How does Lily grow emotionally over the course of the story, and why is it important for her to experience a broad range of feelings, both positive and negative?
- Discuss Lily’s self-observation on page 89: “Even if I was uncomfortable with the emotions he evoked, I’d never felt more alive.” For example, on page 115, she says, “Amon had a falcon-like stare that made me feel vulnerable and powerful at the same time.” In what other ways did Lily experience vulnerability and power?
- Lily often experiences a duality of emotions. How does her decision mirror the one to make the ultimate sacrifice in order to help herself to Lily’s energy without control. Discuss how one’s need to control others is dangerous and often abusive. How can giving up some level of control feel uncomfortable? Describe what Lily means by not “knowing” herself anymore.

Love

- On page 50, Amon explains the ancient Egyptian concept of ka to Lily, to which she replies, “Are you trying to say we’re mates?” What is a soul mate? Do you believe in the concept that there is one person on the planet who is spiritually connected to another? How does the initial physical connection between Lily and Amon eventually change into a heart/soul connection?
- After finding together, Amon declares to Lily that “his heart is lightened” (p. 77) by being with her. How does this lightening of Amon’s heart connected to love? How does Amon’s act of giving Lily his Amset (heart) represent more than a physical gift of remembrance?
- During his solo flight with Asten (p. 261), Lily suddenly realizes what her heart wishes for: “The idea burst into my mind like a sunrise.” How can the realization of wanting something so desperate be a sign of love? Does she mean by “a golden happiness”?
- In the book’s final chapter, “Heart Scarab,” Lily recognizes that Amon chants “the incantations he’d used to bind the two of us, but this time the words were slightly changed” (p. 352). Reread the first spell (p. 21) and then the one from this chapter. How are they different? What are the steps involved in the incantations, and how do they signify?

Self-Determination and Choices

- How does Lily’s changing physical appearance reflect her personal growth and emotional evolution (p. 17)?
- What is agency? Why does Lily refer to the choice Amon is giving her with come to her or stay in New York City as “a precious taste of your own life” (p. 80)?
- Why is it important for Lily to be different from her peers and fight to reshape the course of her life? How is taking control of your own life an example of “gritty determination” (p. 80)?
- How does Lily admit to being a controlled life? After escaping from Amon, she resists herself by “sortling and stacking” her papers into neat piles. Discuss Lily’s statement on page 2 (“There was something about those piles, along with lists that had heavy black checkmarks and calendars with full days crossed out, that gave me a sense of control.”)
- Although in one sense Lily knows that she is powerless while she is bound to Amon, she realizes, “the idea of submitting your will to another” (p. 67). Discuss how Lily ultimately comes to trust Amon enough to give herself over to his control. Does the nature of Amon’s control over Lily change over the course of the story?
- The tale of Seth, Isis, and Osiris is an example of the dark side of needing to have ultimate control. Discuss how Seth’s control over another is dangerous and another is often destructive. How can giving up some level of control feel uncomfortable? Describe what Lily means by not “knowing” herself anymore.

Control

- How does Lily’s changing physical appearance reflect her personal growth and emotional evolution (p. 17)?
- What is agency? Why does Lily refer to the choice Amon is giving her with come to her or stay in New York City as “a precious taste of your own life” (p. 80)?
- Why is it important for Lily to be different from her peers and fight to reshape the course of her life? How is taking control of your own life an example of “gritty determination” (p. 80)?
- How does Lily admit to being a controlled life? After escaping from Amon, she resists herself by “sortling and stacking” her papers into neat piles. Discuss Lily’s statement on page 2 (“There was something about those piles, along with lists that had heavy black checkmarks and calendars with full days crossed out, that gave me a sense of control.”)
- Although in one sense Lily knows that she is powerless while she is bound to Amon, she realizes, “the idea of submitting your will to another” (p. 67). Discuss how Lily ultimately comes to trust Amon enough to give herself over to his control. Does the nature of Amon’s control over Lily change over the course of the story?
- The tale of Seth, Isis, and Osiris is an example of the dark side of needing to have ultimate control. Discuss how Seth’s control over another is dangerous and another is often destructive. How can giving up some level of control feel uncomfortable? Describe what Lily means by not “knowing” herself anymore.

About the Author

Colleen Houck is the New York Times bestselling author of the Tiger’s Curse series. She has won a Parents’ Choice Award and has been reviewed in many publications, including the Los Angeles Times. Her favorite elements of writing are romance, action, and dialogue. Says Houck, “Smart and witty verbal jousting is exciting to invent.” She has loved all over the United States and currently lives in Salem, Oregon, with her husband and a huge assortment of plush tigers. To learn more about Colleen, visit colleenhouck.com.
ABOUT THE BOOK
When seventeen-year-old Lilliana Young enters the Metropolitan Museum of Art one morning during spring break, the last thing she expects to find is a live Egyptian prince with godlike powers who has been reawakened after a thousand years of mummification. And she really can't imagine being chosen to aid him in an epic quest that will lead them across the globe. But fate has taken hold of Lily, and she, along with her sun prince, Amon, must travel to the Valley of the Kings, raise his brothers, and enter the Metropolitan Museum of Art in Salem, Oregon, with her husband and a huge assortment of plush tigers. To learn more about Colleen, visit colleenhouck.com.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS
Sacrifice
• Throughout the story, characters are called upon to make a variety of sacrifices, starting with Amon, who must sacrifice his life to save the people of Egypt. What does his willingness to do so tell you about his character?
• After Amor’s death, Lily describes the gods of Geb and Nut, and she says, “Sacrifice must be made so that others may find happiness” (p. 250). Do you agree with her? How has his sacrifice affected her happiness?
• Lily argues with Dr. Hassan (pp. 252–253) saying, “I don’t feel like being stuck in the sort of limbo afterlife he describes, even should he succeed in his quest. And most of all, I don’t want that to be the sacrfice that Amon deserves more.” How are sacrifice and happiness connected?

For example, on page 196, Lily senses confusing emotions in Amon: “Regret mixed with a deep-seated yearning was paired with frustration.” How does her struggle between fulfilling his promise and his yearning for Lily change over the course of the story?

Love
• On page 50, Amon explains the ancient Egyptian concept of ka to Lily, to which she replies, “Are you trying to say we’re soul mates?” What is soulmate? Do you believe in the concept that there is one person on the planet who is spiritually connected to another? How does the initial physical connection between Lily and Amon eventually change into a heart-to-soul connection?
• After finding together, Amon declares to Lily that “his heart is lighter” (p. 171) by being with her. How is this “lightening” of his heart connected to love? How does Amon’s act of giving Lily his Amset (heart) represent more than a physical gift of remembrance?

• On page 333, Amon speaks cruelly to Lily, causing her to feel as if Amon had slammed the door on the golden birdcage (she had dared to look out of). How was her heart an act of love? What does she mean by “a golden birdcage”?

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS
About the Author
Colleen Houck is the New York Times bestselling author of the Tiger’s Curse series. She has won a Parents’ Choice Award and has been reviewed in many publications, including the Los Angeles Times. Her favorite elements of life are romance, action, and dialogue. Says Houck, “Smart and witty verbal jousting is exciting to invent.” She has lived all over the United States and currently lives in Salem, Oregon, with her husband and a huge assortment of plush tigers. To learn more about Colleen, visit colleenhouck.com.
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS (continued)

- Character
  What does it mean to have character? What are the most important character traits a person must possess to lead a full life? What are your most positive character traits, and how are they realized on a daily basis? Can character be acquired or changed?

- Strength
  What is the difference between physical strength and inner strength? Think about a time in your life when you had to use physical strength to accomplish a task. Now think of a time when you had to summon inner strength to overcome something personally difficult. How were the experiences alike, and how were they different?

- Observation
  What does it mean to have powers of observation? How is seeing different from observing? What qualities must one possess to be observant, and can these qualities be practiced or are people born with them? What might you do to hone your powers of observation?

- Chaos
  Chaos is defined as complete disorder and confusion. How do external events in the world, such as war, natural disasters, and accidents, cause chaos in people’s lives? Now think of internal chaos that can occur inside a person. What factors might lead to one being in a state of internal chaos, and what are some ways one might resolve it?

- LIFE
  - On page 89, Amon explains to Lily that feasting “...is a time for celebration, renewal.” When Lily asks what Amon is celebrating, he replies, “Life.” How is feasting a symbol of life? Why do you think that Lily does not initially view Amon’s “hunger” as a metaphor for living? The feasting metaphor continues on pages 110 and 111. Lily describes her feast as exhilarating, decadent, adventurous, and intimate. How does feasting with Amon begin to inform Lily’s growing willingness to experience the simple pleasures of life?
  - On page 119 Amon encourages a reluctant Lily to dance. He says, “You must allow yourself to feel...joy, Young Lily. You must take pleasure...in just being alive.” How is dancing a metaphor for joy and ultimately for life?
  - Lily realizes that the adventure she is having with Amon is one that she must fully experience and “enjoy every minute while it lasted” (p. 121). Why is it important to live in the moment? Reread page 47 in which Lily believes she is about to die and thinks: The irony was that I waited for death, I realized that I was now finally living. Think about the “sweaty, uncomfortable, harsh, heartbroken, scary, and thrilling” moments of your life. How are the often difficult moments, and getting through them, an affirmation of life?
  - Discuss Lily’s realization that, “...it was better to live, explore and face possible danger that to cower for the rest of my life inside a pretty box (p. 151).” What is Lily’s “pretty box?” Do you agree or disagree with Lily’s sentiment?

Common Core Standards Addressed in This Guide

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade 8</th>
<th>Grade 9</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.8.2</td>
<td>CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.9–10.3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.8.3</td>
<td>CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.9–10.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.8.5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This guide was created by Colleen Carroll, children’s book author, curriculum writer and blueprinter, and an educational consultant. Colleen lives in Sleepy Hollow, New York.

Art © 2015 by Chris Saunders

“You must never underestimate a willing sacrifice.”

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR
OF THE TIGER’S CURSE SERIES

REAWAKENED

Includes Common Core Standards Correlations.