INTRODUCTION TO THE MODULE

Welcome to the Graphic Novel Module from Random House Children’s Books!

This module has been developed to make it easy to introduce new graphic novels into your classroom, allowing you to integrate these works into your English/Language Arts curriculum. You can choose to use all, or part, of the module to fit your classroom’s needs.

For each subject, click on the YouTube logo to watch the author video, and use the Classroom Discussion sheet and Classroom Activity sheet with your students.

SUBJECTS FOR EACH BOOK INCLUDE:

- Plot
- Character
- Dialogue
- Setting
- Theme
- Art

EACH SECTION INCLUDES:

- Author Video
- Classroom Discussion
- Classroom Activity

THE CARDBOARD KINGDOM

JUST ROLL WITH IT
BY LEE DURFEY-LAVOIE AND VERONICA AGARWAL
There are many fantastic reasons to introduce graphic novels into the classroom. Here are some amazing benefits of this format:

- Children learn in different ways; graphic novels work particularly well for visual learners as they engage with the artwork and aren’t intimidated by large blocks of text.
- Graphic novels help young readers develop language arts skills, including reading comprehension and vocabulary development, as well as critical-thinking and interpretation skills.
- Graphic novels help build confidence, especially for early readers, because they have less text and are a perfect bridge from picture books to prose books.
- Many graphic novels for kids are coming-of-age stories that focus on self-development. They also address current, relevant social issues for young readers, like divorce, bullying, and mental health.
- Graphic novels are good for English as an Additional Language students and students who read below grade level because the simple sentences and visual clues allow readers to comprehend some, if not all, of the story.
Glossary

Here are some useful terms to keep in mind and share with your students!

Panel: A single drawing (often contained within a border, often rectangular) that consists of one moment of a comics story.

Gutter: The space between comics panels; the gutter indicates a transition between two moments in the story.

Word balloon/speech balloon: Dialogue is shown in word balloons, often oval, with a tail that points toward the speaking character’s mouth.

Thought bubble: Thoughts are shown in thought bubbles, often cloud-shaped, with small cloud puffs that form a trail between the bubble and the character’s head.

Text box: Narration, especially narration not done by a character present in a panel, and captions are often depicted in boxes.

Sound effect: Non-speech sounds (e.g. Crash!) are frequently incorporated into the artwork rather than being depicted in balloons or boxes.

Emanata: Symbolic icons used in comics to indicate specific emotions, moods, or movement. Examples include speed lines (indicating motion), sweat drops (indicating fear, stress, or surprise), stars (indicating injury), and lots more.

Splash page: A full-page illustration, often at the beginning of a story or chapter. Typically designed as a decorative unit, its purpose is to capture the reader’s attention. These pages can be used to establish time, place, and mood.

Meet Chad Sell!

Chad Sell’s first children’s graphic novel was The Cardboard Kingdom, which he illustrated and cowrote with a team of ten collaborators. This same team came together again to create The Cardboard Kingdom: Roar of the Beast. Chad’s first full-length solo project, Doodleville, is set in Chicago, where he lives with his husband and two cats. You can find Chad online at ChadSellComics.com.

About the Cardboard Kingdom Series

The Cardboard Kingdom is a graphic novel series about kids, creativity, and cardboard! The books follow children who live and play in the same neighborhood. Readers see their stories unfold both through reality and through the imaginations of the kids. Sell created and coordinated the project with ten amazing writers: Jay Fuller, David DeMeo, Katie Schenkel, Kris Moore, Manuel Betancourt, Molly Muldoon, Vid Alliger, Cloud Jacobs, Michael Cole, and Barbara Perez Marquez.

Graphic Novel Module: Author Introduction
Meet Lee Durfey-LaVoie and Veronica Agarwal

Veronica Agarwal is a cartoonist and illustrator from NYC. She graduated from the School of Visual Arts with a bachelor of fine art in cartooning, and she loves plants, summertime, dogs, and her three cats! Her work focuses on mental health, coming-of-age stories, and friendship. Just Roll with It is her debut graphic novel.

Lee Durfey-Lavoie, a college dropout who was able to find a career in writing, loves role-playing games and spending time with his cat. Just Roll with It is his debut graphic novel.

About Just Roll with It

Just Roll with It is a graphic novel series featuring a young girl, Maggie, as she faces the challenges of beginning middle school. Starting school is hard enough when you’re shy and don’t know anyone, but We enter Maggie’s life as she deals with the complexities of her anxiety and obsessive-compulsive disorder and comes to terms with identifying these issues.

FOCUS ON CHARACTER: CARDBOARD KINGDOM

Foundation Questions

• What is character?
• How do readers learn about characters?
• Describe the Sorceress’s costume. What does it tell readers about the Sorceress?
• Describe the Blob’s costume. How does the Prince help with the Blob’s costume? What does this tell the reader about the Prince?
• Describe the Prince’s costume. What does it tell the reader about the Prince?

Discussion

• What makes a character important in a story? How are the Sorceress, the Blob, and the Prince connected in The Cardboard Kingdom and The Cardboard Kingdom: Roar of the Beast?
• How does the author help readers to get to know the characters?
• How do the illustrations of the characters and their alter egos help readers get to know individual characters?
• For the Sorceress and the Prince, what do you know about these characters that you did not learn from their appearances?

Activities and Analysis

• Use the organizer to identify textual and visual evidence about the Sorceress, the Blob, and the Prince.
• The Sorceress is identified as part of the Army of Evil. Based on the evidence, do you believe the Sorceress is evil? Why or why not?
• The Blob is bullied by others. Based on the evidence, do you believe the Blob is weak? Why or why not?
• Based on the evidence, do you believe the Prince is a hero? Why or why not?

- How do readers learn about characters?
- For each set of images, describe the character’s appearance and body language.

Discussion

- What makes a character important in a story? What similarities and differences do you notice between Maggie and the Dragon?
- Describe each of these characters: Clara, Eli, and Alex. How would the story be impacted if any of those characters were removed?
- How does the author help readers get to know the character through the illustrations?
- How do the illustrators leverage the characters and visual representations of anxiety, obsessive-compulsive disorder, and bullying to enhance the central message of the graphic novel?
FOCUS ON CHARACTER: JUST ROLL WITH IT

Activities and Analysis

- Use the organizer to identify textual and visual data about Maggie and the Dragon.
- Maggie is having a tough time and just wanting to get through the first year of middle school. Based on the evidence, do you think this is an accurate description? Why or why not?

Just Roll with It explores the complexity of anxiety and obsessive-compulsive disorder. Based on the evidence, do you think the Dragon represents these accurately? Why or why not?

Foundation Questions

· What is dialogue?
· How is dialogue different in prose books and graphic novels?
· How else do characters communicate?

Discussion

· Based on what you see in the first frame, what do you think the dad is thinking or feeling?
· How is this dialogue connected to the overall themes in The Cardboard Kingdom?
· How do the characters’ alter egos reflect their true identities?
· What does the absence of dialogue in the final panel (and other places throughout the book) tell you?

Activities and Analysis

· Which characters are involved in the dialogue?
· Looking closely at the first frame, what does the dad’s body language tell readers about how he’s feeling? How is this different than in the last frame?
· What do readers learn about each character through images and words in this dialogue?

THIS IS MY LAB GEAR, DAD! I DON'T UNDERSTAND!

THAT THING! THE MUSTACHE!

WHAT?! THIS? IT'S JUST...

THE NEIGHBORS, WHAT WILL THEY SAY?

I DON'T... I WAS TRYING TO HELP MY FRIENDS. LIKE YOU SAID.

WHAT WOULD THEY SAY BACK HOME?

I SAID NO SUCH THING. TAKE IT OFF AND GO TO YOUR ROOM.

HONEY? IT'S TIME FOR DINNER.

I DON'T WANT ANY, IT'S OKAY.

WELL... I'LL SAVE YOU A PLATE.

WHEN AMANDA FIRST SHOWED ME HER COSTUME...

DO YOU KNOW WHAT SHE WAS MOST EXCITED ABOUT?

WHAT?

SHE LOOKED JUST LIKE YOU.

It’s Time to Make Your Own Comic!

TASK

Now that you’ve become more familiar with The Cardboard Kingdom and The Cardboard Kingdom: Roar of the Beast, Penguin Random House has asked YOU to pitch your own idea for a new character for the Cardboard Kingdom.

PROCESS

First step, create your character! Think about their personality. Consider your character’s costume. Think about your character’s family, and what their story is. How will you incorporate all these elements into their story?

Plan the color palette. Choose at least two colors, and describe what they represent and how they support the central theme.

Second step, think about your story! What will happen in the beginning, the middle, and where is it going. What is the central theme of the story? How do your characters progress through the story?

FINAL PRODUCT

Your presentation must show your planning process, as well as the final draft of a zine with a story that has a clear plot and logical sequence. The story should have a well-developed protagonist and images that support a central theme or lesson.

KEEP IN MIND . . .

- The plot should follow a logical sequence, with a clear beginning, middle, and end.
- You must add one new character, and keep at least three of the original characters.
- A central theme or lesson should unify the story.
- Dialogue and imagery that support the central theme must be included.
- Use correct grammar, punctuation, capitalization, and spelling.

It’s Time to Make Your Own Comic!

TASK

Now that you’ve thoughtfully read and analyzed Just Roll with It, Random House Children’s Books has asked YOU to pitch your own idea for a comic that tells a story about an invisible challenge that many students in middle school may face.

PROCESS

First step, create your character! Think about their personality. Consider your character’s costume. Think about your character’s family, and what their story is. How will you incorporate all these elements into their story?

Plan the color palette. For at least two colors, tell what they represent and how they support the central theme.

FINAL PRODUCT

Your presentation must show your planning process, as well as the final draft of the comic with a story that has a clear plot with logical sequence. The story should have a well-developed protagonist and an “invisible” challenge, with images that support a central theme or lesson.

KEEP IN MIND . . .

- The plot should follow a logical sequence with a clear beginning, middle, and end.
- Include visual representation of an “invisible” challenge or conflict.
- A central theme or lesson should unify the story.
- Dialogue and imagery that support the central theme must be included.
- Use correct grammar, punctuation, capitalization, and spelling.
